

-CHANGING-
HUNTSVILLE

—1890-1899—

ELIZABETH HUMES CHAPMAN

CHANGING HUNTSVILLE

1890-1899

By
Elizabeth Humes Chapman

All rights reserved.
No part of this book may be reproduced without express permission of the Historic Huntsville Foundation, Inc.

Republished by the Historic Huntsville Foundation, Inc.
P. O. Box 786
Huntsville, Alabama 35804
1989

Illustrations

Elizabeth Humes Chapman	Frontispiece
A Hatchet	34
Church of the Nativity	40
“Piedmont,” the Garth Home	61
Portico of the Chapman Home, “Gladstone Place”	62
The Smokehouse at “Gladstone Place”	66
Fire Fighting Equipment, Typical of the 1890’s	72
Churches of Huntsville	88
A Doll	110
A Horse	120
“Abingdon Place,” Residence of the Humes Family	134
A Beaten Biscuit Machine	157
The Negro Cook was Usually the Boss	158
A Big Occasion at the Big Spring	163
Sacred to the Memory of - -	164

Table of Contents

Illustrations.	vii
Preface	ix
Foreword	xi
Abstract	xiii
Chapter 1 Northern Influx.	1
Chapter 2 Political Expression.	25
Chapter 3 Woman's Suffrage	27
Chapter 4 Newspapers.	35
Chapter 5 Personalities	41
Chapter 6 Piedmont.	59
Chapter 7 Monte Sano Dairy	63
Chapter 8 An Encampment	67
Chapter 9 Fires of Huntsville.	73
Chapter 10 Civic Organizations	75
Chapter 11 The Opera House.	85
Chapter 12 The Church	89
Chapter 13 Observance of Festivals.	93
Chapter 14 Recreation.	111
Chapter 15 Clubs.	121
Chapter 16 Schools	135
Chapter 17 As They Cooked	153
Chapter 18 The Color Line	159
Chapter 19 Obituaries	165
Conclusion	181
Index.	183