The Civil War diary of Mary Jane Chadick of Huntsville, Alabama, has been a popular source for historians since it first appeared in serial form in the Huntsville Times in 1937. Soon after this, it was printed in a small book, and in 1947 was reprinted in the Alabama Historical Quarterly, a selection so popular that surplus copies were quickly depleted. Chadick's witty observations of life under military occupation and the social and cultural tensions of southern women living in a wartime world are quoted by writers of many books about the Civil War. Nancy Rohr's edition is the first attempt to place the diary in context and interpret Mrs. Chadick and the wartime world in which she lived. Rohr's extensive annotations make this new edition an even more valuable primary source on women, northern Alabama and the Civil War.
